WHAT IS A 'SAVE'?

No more than one relief pitcher shall be credited with a 'save' in any one game.

A relief pitcher shall not be credited with a 'save' unless he faces the tying or lead run during his tenure on the mound, except in the following situations:

1. A relief pitcher shall be credited with a 'save' if he enters the game in the final inning with a two-run lead and proceeds to pitch a perfect inning.
2. A relief pitcher shall be credited with a 'save' if he enters the game at any time with a three-run lead and pitches two or more innings and finishes the game while protecting the victory.

Generally, the 'save' would be awarded to the finishing pitcher. This would hold true except in a situation such as the following:

Twins leading Yankees, 4-3, in the seventh inning, and Al Worthington, who has been working in relief for the Twins, is withdrawn for a pinch-hitter during a rally in which the Twins score four runs to go ahead, 8-3. Ron Perrone succeeds Worthington and finishes the game without allowing the tying run to come to the plate. Credit Worthington with a 'save,' since the tying run came to the plate during his tenure on the mound.

TWINS' TRAINER

GEORGE 'DOC' LENTZ is in his twenty-second season as the team's trainer. A native of Williamsport, Pa., he has trained teams at Dickinson Seminary and Catholic and George Washington Universities. For ten years, he also taught classes for trainers at George Washington. In fact, he still maintains his associate professorship there. He also served as head trainer of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League for 14 years, concluding with the 1961 season. His patented protective helmet is used by most major league teams. Married, he makes his permanent home in Silver Spring, Md.

Calvin R. Griffith, Twins' President

One of only two career baseball men currently owning and operating a club in major league baseball . . . San Francisco's Horace Stoneham is the other . . . president Calvin Griffith of the Twins was stung deeply by the team's near-miss in the 1967 American League pennant race.

As a result, he resolved to pull out all stops in an effort to avoid a similar calamity in 1968. Several older players were cleared from the club's roster at the conclusion of the '67 season, and in their places were added a number of bright, up-and-coming young stars of the future.

A couple of roster spots, however, were left open in order to make it possible to draft a pair of experienced players at the selection session of the major league meetings in Mexico City in late November . . . a practice from which the Twins had abstained since selecting pitcher Bill Fischer in the 1963 draft at San Diego. This time, Mr. Griffith chose catcher Bruce Look, a four-year veteran of the Los Angeles Dodgers' organization, and outfielder Jim Holt, no. 2 hitter in the tough Carolina League last year for the Oakland Athletics' Peninsula club.

Later that day, however, the Twins' prey negotiated the deal of the year in the major leagues, trading shortstop Zoilo Versalles and pitcher Jim Grant to the Dodgers for catcher John Roseboro and pitchers Bob Miller and Ron Perranoski . . . two of the top relief hurlers in the majors.

In one fell swoop, therefore, Calvin had strengthened the two positions which had seemed to give the Twins the most concern in 1967 . . . catching and relief pitching.

It's true that in order to get something, you must give something. And, Mr. Griffith is fully aware that he gave up a lot to get what he wanted. He feels, however, that the club has sufficient pitching depth to more than make up for the loss of Grant, and that, in Jackie Hernandez, the Twins have a shortstop who could prove to be every bit as valuable to the team as was Versalles. If not Hernandez, it could be any of several other fine shortstop prospects reporting to Orlando this spring. And then, of course, there's always Cesar Tovar!

A native of Montreal, Quebec, Canada, Calvin, nee Calvin Robertson, moved to Washington, D. C., as a youngster with his family, following the death of his father. In Washington, he and his sister Thelma, now vice-president and co-owner of the Twins, were adopted by their uncle, the late Clark C. Griffith, Hall of Fame pitcher, co-founder of the American League, and owner of the Washington Senators baseball franchise at the time.

It wasn't long before Calvin became actively associated with the Senators, first as batboy for the pennant-winning aggregations of 1924 and '25. Later on, in 1935, his uncle assigned him to the club's Chattanooga Southern Association farm club as president and treasurer of the team. In 1938, he moved over to Charlotte, N. C., to handle the same capacities for the Senators' Piedmont League affiliate. While there, he even had a whirl at managing the club.

In 1942, he returned to Washington as manager of the concession operation at Griffith Stadium. He went on from there to gain experience as traveling secretary and public relations director, before assuming the post of administrative assistant to his uncle. When Mr. Griffith passed away on October 27, 1956, the well-grounded Calvin was elected president of the organization five days later.

It was while he was at Charlotte, that he met the young lady who was to become his wife, the former Natalie Nixon. The couple now has three children . . . daughters Corinne and Clara, and son Clark II, a Dartmouth graduate who's now following in the footsteps of his illustrious father as an administrative assistant in the Twins' organization.

Manager

ERMER, Calvin Coolidge

'Cal'

No. 43

Born November 10, 1923, in Baltimore, Maryland. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Batted and threw righthanded. Married. Lives in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Assuming the reins of the Twins last June 9, Cal Ermer did a magnificent job in leading the club down to the last-day determination of the American League championship.

In sixth place with a 26-26 record when Ermer took over, the Twins caught fire under the patient Southerner to play at a .359 clip the rest of the way. They took over first place on August 18, and remained at the top for all but ten days before the Boston Red Sox overtook them on the final day of the season, October 1.

A 17-year veteran of the minor league managerial ranks, Cal broke into baseball as an 18-year-old infielder with the Griffith organization's Orlando team of the Florida East Coast League in 1942. When transportation problems and the wartime ban on night ball in coastal cities caused the league to disband on May 14, Cal was shifted to the Jacksonville club of the South Atlantic League, and thence to Burlington, N. C., of the Bi-State League.

Following three years of military service, Cal returned to Orlando as a second baseman in 1946. In mid-season of 1947, he took over as manager of the Charlotte, N. C., club, but returned to the playing ranks the next two seasons before settling permanently into a managerial role in 1950, at Orlando.

Married, and the father of two sons, Cal also has quite a background in soccer, having served as head soccer coach at the University of Baltimore for eight autumn seasons in the late '40's and early '50's.

Named 'Minor League Manager of the Year' for 1953 by The Sporting News, the national baseball weekly, Cal is intuitive and resourceful in game situations. And his calm, fair, but firm treatment of players has gained him the utmost in respect from those who've played under him.

CASE, George Washington

No. 46

Born November 11, 1916, in Trenton, New Jersey. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Batted and threw righthanded. Married. Lives in Morristown, Pennsylvania.

One of the great base-stealers of all time, George Case was added to the Twins' coaching staff for 1965 with the particular responsibility of assisting Twins' baserunners in capitalizing on their speed potential. A five-season major league leader in steals . . . and six times in the American League . . . with a top of 61 in 1943, George is also a co-holder of the major league mark for the most bits in a doubleheader, getting nine against Philadelphia on July 4, 1940. After 13 years in the Majors, Case, a four-time All-Star selection, retired from the game to operate a sporting goods store in Trenton, N. J., in 1948. In 1950, he was named as head baseball coach at Rutgers University, a position he held through the 1960 season. With the formation of the new Washington franchise in 1961, George became a coach for the Senators under manager Mickey Vernon. With Vernon's departure in mid-1963, Case became a scout for the Nats until named as manager of their Hawaii farm club in 1965. He remained at the helm of the Islanders through the 1966 season, when he returned to scouting. The return was short-lived, however, as he was asked to take the reins of the Senators' York, Pa., farm of the Eastern League last June 27. In the spring of 1968, at the request of Washington general manager George Snirkirk, George spent three weeks in Japan as a special spring training advisor to the Chunichi Dragons of the Japanese major leagues.

MARTIN, Alfred Manual'Billy'*No. 1

Born May 18, 1928, in Berkeley, California. Height: 5 ft., 11 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Batted and threw right-handed. Married. Lives in Richfield, Minnesota.

Starting his eighth year with the Griffith organization, and fourth as a coach, Billy Martin this year faces probably his most important assignment as a Twins' tutor . . . that of working with the several young shortstop candidates at the team's Tinker Field spring training base in hopes of developing a standout performer for that key position. Among others, Billy is expected to check out Jackie Hernandez, Cesar Tovar, Rick Renick, Ron Clark, Frank Quillo and Rod Carew at the short-field. And, if Martin's success in working with Zelio Versalles in 1965, Tovar in '66, and Carew last year is any criterion, out of the above-named players the former New York Yankee pennant-sparkplug is a good bet to come up with a player capable of shortstopping in the style established in the Upper Midwest by Versalles. A dedicated baseball man, Billy spent three years scouting for the Twins after retiring as a player in the spring of 1962. In between seasons, he's employed as a goodwill representative of the Minneapolis Brewing Co.

OLDIS, Robert Carl

'Bob'

No. 45

Born January 5, 1928, in Preston, Iowa. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Batted and threw righthanded. Married. Lives in Iowa City, Iowa.

A 14-year catching veteran in the professional ranks, Bob Oldis returns to the Griffith organization this year as bullpen coach, a position vacated after the 1966 season by the departure of Hal Naragon. A catcher for the Griffins in 1953, '54 and '55, Oldis served as Midwest scout for the Philadelphia Phillies last year, after having suited up as a coach for the Phis the three preceding seasons. He wound up his active career as a player in a Philadelphia uniform in 1963. A football and basketball referee in high school and junior college ranks in Iowa and Illinois during the off-season, Dob was the personal choice of Twins' manager Cal Ermer for the bullpen spot on the club's coaching staff. Oldis played under Ermer for five seasons in the minor leagues, and also in Caribbean winter ball, impressing the skipper with his ready receiving and fine all-round knowledge of the game.

TWINS ON RECORD IN '67

The Minnesota Twins, as a team, tied one major league record, and participated in tying another major league mark and setting an American League standard during 1967. The big league mark tied by the club was their using of four catchers . . . Jerry Zimmerman, Russ Nixon, Hank Iquierdo and Earl Battey . . . in a 9-inning game against California at the Met, September 27. They also joined with Detroit in scoring the most runs, 15, ever tallied in the sixth-inning of a major league game, when the Tigers garnered 10 and the Twins 5, in a slugfest at the Met, June 13. The Minnesotans joined with Washington in recording the most strikeouts ever racked up in an American League game, 35, when Senator hurlers fanned 19, and Twin moundsmen 16, in their 20-inning marathon here, August 9.

Individually, Twin Cesar Tovar participated in the most games ever played by an American Leaguer in a season, 164. Zello Versalles established a new league mark for fewest putouts handled in a season by a shortstop appearing in 150 or more games, 229. And, Dean Chance set a new major league standard for most strikeouts by a pitcher in a batter in a season, 68.

Born January 6, 1920, in Hartford, Alabama. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 235 lbs. Batted and threw righthanded. Married. Lives in Nokomis, Florida.

The last of the 200-game winners, Early Wynn imparted the same kind of competitive grit that he was famous for as a player into the Twins' pitching staff last year, with the result that Twins' hurlers, collectively, ranked second in the American League only to the vaunted staff of the Chicago White Sox. A big league hurler until he won his 300th game on July 13, 1963, Wynn was a battler all the way during a record 23 seasons in the major leagues, with his crowning achievement being the Cy Young Award, which he received for leading the White Sox to the pennant with 22 victories in 1959. Possibly Wynn's most unique accomplishment came in 1959, however, when he led American League pitchers with an earned-run average of 3.20 . . . which stands as the highest league-leading ERA ever posted in the major leagues. Five times, Early won 20 or more games in a season, a feat surpassed by only a dozen big league pitchers in modern times, plus 16 major leaguers in the days prior to the formation of the American League in 1901. An avid outdoorsman, Gus serves as a representative of the Thunderbird Boat Corp., during the off-season.

Players

ALLISON, William Robert 'Bubble-Up' LF No. 4

Born July 11, 1934, in Raytown, Missouri. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 220 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Edina, Minnesota.

Rebounding from an off-season in 1966, Bob Allison was a big factor in the Twins' success last season, both at the bat and in the field. Runner-up to teammate Dean Chance in the American League's 'Comeback Player of the Year' vote, the former University of Kansas fullback is one of just three remaining 'original' Twins . . . Jim Kaat and Harmon Killebrew are the others. Active in business and civic affairs during the winter months, Bob served this year as honorary state chairman of the Minnesota Easter Seal campaign, and as court chamberlain to Boreas Rex XXXVI, of the St. Paul Winter Carnival. Also active as a hunter and fisherman, he sandwiched all those activities around his full-time off-season purpose as a sales representative for the Twin Cities Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

BOSWELL, David Wilson 'Bos' P No. 23

Born January 20, 1945, in Baltimore, Maryland. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Baltimore.

One of the younger 'veterans' in the game, Dave Boswell overcame a slow start in 1967 . . . he didn't win his first game until the season was 49 days old . . . to post the top win-total of his 4-year professional career. Included in his victories were three 2-hitters and a 3-hitter . . . an 8-2 verdict over Kansas City, September 19. But probably his best outing was a 4-hit gem over league-champion Boston on June 28, when he posted his top big-league strikeout effort, fanning 13 men en route to a 3-2 win. In fact, he got 12 of those strikeouts in the first 5 innings! The 13 K's were a Twins' high for the year, equaled later by Dean Chance against Kansas City on September 20, and by Jim Kaat vs. California, September 26. Born to be a ballplayer, Bos has come a long way since being signed to his original Twins' contract by scout Ed Dunn, back in September, 1963. During the off-season, he is part-owner of a Baltimore bowling establishment.

CAREW, Rodney Cline 'Rod' 2B No. 29

Born October 1, 1945, in Gatun, Panama Canal Zone. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Single. Lives in Brooklyn, New York.

A runaway choice as the American League's 'Rookie of the Year,' and the loop's starting second baseman in the annual All-Star Game, Rod Carew arrived on the major league scene with gusto in 1967. Making the jump all the way from the Class A Carolina League, Rod fulfilled a pre-season prediction by club president Calvin Griffith that he would not only make the team, but would earn All-Star recognition, as well. Starting with a 5-for-5 day on May 8, against Washington, the slender young speedster, who was born on a train between Gatun and Atenas in the Panama Canal Zone, maintained an average at-or-above .300, until finally falling below the mark on September 12. Along the way, he compiled the team's longest hitting streak of the season, 15 games, from June 3-16. Although he didn't play high school baseball, Rod was spotted by Twins' scout Herb Stein while playing sandlot ball in New York City, where his family had moved during his teens. After batting .305 in the Florida Instructional League last fall, Rod became personally acquainted with many of the fans he'd made during the summer by touring Twinsville as a member of the club's wintertime public relations troupe. Again, he was a smash hit!

CHANCE, Wilmer Dean 'Dean' P No. 32

Born June 1, 1941, in Wooster, Ohio. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Wooster.

The American League's 'Comeback Player of the Year' for 1967, Dean Chance was the bellwether of the Twins' pitching staff throughout the campaign, joining the 20-victory circle for the second time in his 6-year major league career. In the process, he missed by just one of equalling Camilo Pascual's 1961 club strikeout record. But, undoubtedly, the high points of his season were the pair of no-hitters he authored. The first, unofficial since the game was terminated after 3 innings due to rain, was a perfect affair over the Boston Red Sox at the Met, August 6, 2-0. The other was officially registered in the Hall of Fame as he stopped the Indians in Cleveland, August 30, 2-1, with the Cleveland run counting in the first inning on two walks, an error and a wild pitch. Earlier in the season, on May 11, Dean stopped Kansas City on just one hit, a 5th-inning single by Danny Caine, as he blanked the A's, 8-0. Twice the junior circuit's starting pitcher in All-Star Game competition, Chance led the league in innings-pitched and complete games (18), and tied with Boston's Jim Lonborg for the most starting assignments (39). A cattle farmer during the off-season, he is also connected with a pair of Twin Cities business enterprises, the Home Juke Co., and the Golden Cue Billiard Parlor.

CLARK, Ronald Bruce 'Ron' 3B-SS No. 8

Born January 14, 1943, in Fort Worth, Texas. Height: 5 ft., 10 in. Weight: 165 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Fort Worth.

Completely recovered from a July 23, 1967, operation to remove a pea-sized bone chip from his right elbow, infielder Ron Clark is captain to make a concerted bid to win a starting position with the Twins in 1968. Ron manned third base regularly for the club during the month of May last season, before his elbow difficulties sent him to the sidelines. After his operation, he made one game appearance as a pinch-hitter in September, and at the conclusion of the American League campaign, he took over the shortstop position for the Mayaguez Indians of the Puerto Rican Winter League. Ron found that his arm seemed stronger than ever during the winter, and scouting reports on his defensive play indicate that he'll be a hard man to beat in the battle for the Twins' shortstop job. At the bat, Ron, who's always been a tough 'out,' started slowly with Mayaguez, but over the last half of the 70-game season batted .198, to wind up with a respectable .262-figure. An all-round-type athlete, Ron is a former rodeo rider and Golden Gloves boxer.

Born November 26, 1946, in St. Louis, Missouri. Height: 5 ft., 3 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Single. Lives in Webster Groves, Missouri.

A St. Louis University product who missed the home-run and rbi championships of the New York-Pennsylvania League by just one in each category last year, Bill Hahn helped spark the Auburn Twins to a runaway romp of 10½-games in the NY-P flag chase. An outstanding defensive player and the league's All-Star first baseman, Hahn also just missed topping the circuit's first sackers in the field, losing out by just .001. Bill was signed for the Twins by scout Bill Messmann after having been selected by the club in the free-agent draft session of June 8, 1966.

Born November 23, 1947, in Thomasville, North Carolina. Height: 5 ft., 10 in. Weight: 144 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Single. Lives in Riverside, California.

A diminutive fireballer, Jeffy Tom Hall placed second in the Midwest League strikeout tables last season, after pacing the Gulf Coast League in this respect in 1966. He also tied for most victories in the Gulf Coast, although spending the last month of that season in the Florida State League. A discovery of scout Jess Flores, Hall spent the recent off-season in military service.

Born September 11, 1940, in Central Tinguaro, Matanzas, Cuba. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Miami, Florida.

A prime candidate for the Twins' regular shortstop job in 1968, Jackie Hernandez came up to the club last August 5, after sparkling in the field for the Denver Pacific Coast League farm club. Originally a catcher in the Cleveland system, Jackie was obtained by the Twins, along with pitcher Dean Chance, in the December 2, 1966, trade with California for pitcher Pete Cimino, outfielder Jimmie Hall and two basemen, Don Mincher, Frost, and possessed with a strong and accurate throwing arm, Jackie is considered one of the game's truly fine operators at the shortstop position. In the recent Venezuelan Winter League season, he batted .267 for the Aragua club.

Born May 27, 1944, in Graham, North Carolina. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Single. Lives in Belton, Texas.

Drafted by the Twins off the roster of the Oakland A's Vancouver Pacific Coast League farm last November 28, Jim Holt comes to the Griffith organization with just two seasons of professional experience under his belt. A speedster with a strong throwing arm, Holt is a veteran of better than three years Army service. He was second in the Carolina League batting race in 1967, and followed that up by leading the Arizona Instructional League last fall with a .361-average, as an outfielder-first baseman for the A's entry. Defensively, he proved the outfields in both circuits.

P No. 36

Born November 7, 1939, in Zeeland, Michigan. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 227 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in Minnetonka Village, Minnesota.

With seven straight victories under his belt at the conclusion of the 1967 season, big Jim Kaat is on the threshold of tying his '66 Twins' club record for most consecutive wins by a starting pitcher, 8, a mark currently shared by Dave Boswell (1966), and Canadio Pascual (1963 and 1965). The huge southpaw started slowly last season, and as late as June 9, sported a record of only 1-7. From that point on, however, he was the club's most dependable hurler as he sparked a late-season drive that fell just an eyelash short of the Griffith organization's second Minnesota pennant. The winner of the league's Gold Glove Award for fielding excellence for the sixth straight season, the personification of Kaat's top performance of the year was a 10-inning, 3-0, win over Kansas City's Catfish Hunter, September 18, a 13-strikeout gem. Just eight days later, he established a personal major league high for himself by fanning 33 California Angels in a 7-3 decision at Metropolitan Stadium. On the side, Jim is active with Sports Films & Talents, Inc.

OF No. 25

Born July 30, 1944, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Single. Lives in Philadelphia.

Although missing the first half of the 1967 season due to military service, Pat Kelly enjoyed a fine second-half season in the Pacific Coast League, and then followed that up by bashing .292 for the Twins' Bradenton entry in the Florida Instructional League last fall. The younger brother of Cleveland Browns' football star Leroy Kelly, Pat is expected to make a strong bid for a Twins' outfield berth in 1968. A speedster, the former Morgan State College student stole 19 bases in his abbreviated PCL season last year, and then swiped 16 more in 40 Instructional League games.

KELLER, Ronald Lee

'Ron'

P No. 38

Born June 3, 1943, in Indianapolis, Indiana. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Indianapolis.

A steady righthander, Ron Keller rates an excellent chance of attaining the major league level with the Twins in 1968. An Indiana University grad, Ron was the Twins' first choice in the Class A phase of the first-ever free-agent draft session of June 8, 1966. Just a little over two months later, on August 17, he stamped his name indelibly in the archives of professional baseball by hurling a Northern League no-hitter for St. Cloud over Aberdeen, 3-1.

KOSTRO, Frank Jerry

OF No. 2

Born August 4, 1937, in Windber, Pennsylvania. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Denver, Colorado.

Returning to the Twins last June 17, when an elbow ailment required Ron Clark to be placed on the disabled list, Frank Kostro began right in to take major league pitching as though he'd never been away. Used almost exclusively as a pinch-hitter, the well-built handyman, who was leading Pacific Coast League hitters at the time of his call-up from Denver, collected 9 hits in 23 pinch-attempts over the season, a remarkable .391-clip. A former student at the University of Michigan, Frank was obtained by the Twins from the Los Angeles Angels in a trade for outfielder Lenny Green, on June 11, 1964.

Born June 29, 1936, in Payette, Idaho. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Ontario, Oregon.

The major leagues' co-leader in home runs in 1967, marking the third time he's achieved such honors in the majors and the fifth time he's passed the American League in his nine seasons as a big league regular. Harmon Killebrew now ranks 14th on the list of the greatest home run hitters in the history of the game. During the past season, he moved up seven notches in this respect, passing the marks of such greats as Joe Adcock, Vang Herrn, Johnny Mize, Joe DiMaggio, Rocky Colavito, Ralph Kiner and Gil Hodges. Frank Robinson (403), one of six active players still ahead of Harm, and Duke Snider (407) are the only players within the Minho Slugger's sights in 1968. Besides homers in '67, Harm also tied with Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and Dave Johnson for league tops in sacrifice flies, with 8 and his 182 bases on balls were the most in the nation since Eddie Yost received 135 for Detroit in 1959. While Killebrew's home run ratio of one for every 13.61 times at bat is second to the 11.76 ratio of the Immortal Babe Ruth, it remains a fact that Harm's current total of homers is 24 greater than was Ruth's at age 31. A one-time student at the College of Minho, in Caldwell, Killebrew placed third in the league's slugging race last year with a .553-figure . . . a category in which he led the circuit in 1963. An All-Star selection for five consecutive seasons, and in seven of his nine campaigns as a regular . . . and at three different positions . . . the personable Killebrew also does a top-level job during the season as host of a pre-game television show over Twins' outlet WTCN-TV.

LOOK, Bruce Michael

C No. 27

Born June 9, 1943, in Lansing, Michigan. Height: 5 ft., 11 in. Weight: 183 lbs. Bats left; throws right. Married. Lives in Lansing.

A former baseball and football star at Michigan State University, Bruce Look was drafted by the Twins off the roster of the Los Angeles Dodgers' Spokane, Pacific Coast League farm club last fall. Originally signed by the Milwaukee Braves, he was obtained by the Dodgers in the first-year draft selections of November, 1964. The younger brother of former Michigan State football All-America Dean Look, Bruce is expected to make a strong bid for the Twins' no. 1 catching job in 1968.

MERRITT, James Joseph "Bones" P No. 17

Born December 9, 1943, in Altadena, California. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in West Covina, California.

The major leagues' "stringbean" pitcher in the matter of bases-on-balls, lefty Jim Merritt's pin-point control was highly instrumental in his attaining fifth-place ranking among American League hurlers in the earned-run tables in 1967 . . . after his having paced the circuit in this respect through much of the campaign. Over a stretch of 98-1/2 innings between July 3 and August 18, Merritt walked just one batter, Mickey Mantle, unintentionally. Included in that skein, was one purely walkless period of 40 innings. For the season, he averaged just one walk for each 7.6 innings of work. After starting the season as a reliever, Jim was moved into the starting rotation on May 26, and responded with a shutout win over Kansas City. In his next outing, he cemented his hold on a starting position by blanking New York on a 2-hitter, 3-0. His best effort, however, came on September 21, when he whitewashed the A's on a near-perfect 2-hitter, in which he faced only one man over the minimum. A former clubhouse boy for the Los Angeles Dodgers when they played their games in the L. A. Coliseum, Jim could well emerge as the premier southpaw in the majors this year, which would more than bear out the prediction made of him last season by Twins' farm department official George Drophu, who said, "Merritt could well be the next Whitey Ford!"

MILLER, Robert Lane "Bob" P No. 21

Born February 18, 1939, in St. Louis, Missouri. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Seaside, Oregon.

Signed originally as a bonus player with the St. Louis Cardinals, Bob Miller came to the Twins in last November's celebrated trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers. The hard-throwing righthander spent five years in a Dodger uniform, primarily as a reliever, and performed brilliantly in the first four seasons, before running into a disappointing summer in 1967. Twins' scouting reports indicate, however, that Miller's arm never looked stronger than it did last year, and the club is confident he'll return to his previous form in 1968. Besides the Dodgers and Cardinals, the former St. Louis University under-graduate has also seen major league service with the New York Mets, who picked him up from the Cards in the National League's original expansion draft of October 10, 1961. He joined the Dodgers in a trade for first baseman Tim Harkness and second sacker Larry Burright on December 1, 1962. As a Twin, Bob will find much in common with catcher Russ Nixon, since both are horsemen, engaged in the raising of thoroughbreds during the off-season.

MITTERWALD, George Eugene 'Mitty' C No. 34

Born June 7, 1945, in Berkeley, California. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Hayward, California.

Making rapid strides up the professional ladder, George Mitterwald looms as a strong candidate for a Twins' catching berth in 1968, and certainly stacks up as a major league mainstay of the future. His highly impressive both at bat and behind the plate. The likeable young Californian made a great many friends for himself and for the Twins last winter by travelling the circuit as a member of the club's Upper Midwest goodwill caravan.

MORRIS, Danny Welke P No. 49

Born June 11, 1948, in Greenville, Kentucky. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 203 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Greenville.

After a somewhat disappointing summer in the Pacific Coast League, Danny Morris found the groove once again in the Florida Instructional League last fall when he compiled a 3-0 record, with a 1.73 ERA, for the Twins' Bradenton club. From there he joined the Aragua team of the Venezuelan Winter League, posting a sparkling 6-2 log, with a 1.90 ERA. A hard-thrower who's always recorded impressive strikeout-walk ratios, Danny stands a strong chance of cracking the Twins' staff in 1968.

MURRAY, Charles Frederick 'Charlie' P No. 39

Born November 29, 1944, in Seattle, Washington. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in San Lorenzo, California.

The standout hurler of the Florida State League in 1967, when he paced the circuit in strikeouts and complete games (18), and was the co-leader in victories and shutouts (17), Charlie Murray has all the earmarks of becoming one of the game's truly fine pitchers. The slender righthander has made a particularly strong impression on Twins' pitching coach Early Wynn, who predicts a bright future for him.

NETTLES, Graig3B No. 35

Born August 20, 1944, in San Diego, California. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in San Diego.

A one-time star for the Alaska Goldpanthers of semi-pro fame, Graig Nettles has been a laudable home-run leader in each of his two seasons of professional baseball, pacing the Midwest circuit in 1966, and tying for the leadership of the Southern last year. A former student at San Diego State College, he was named the All-Star Third baseman of the Southern League in 1967. With Bradenton in the Florida Instructional League last fall he batted .306, and paced the league's third basemen defensively. A highly sought-after athlete in his free-agent days, Graig impressed all observers in his brief trial with the Twins last September, and is certain to receive strong consideration for a major league job with the club this year.

Born February 19, 1935, in Clevea, Ohio. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in Delhi Hills, Ohio.

With a lifetime batting average exceeded only by Elston Howard, Tim McCarver and Joe Torre among major league catchers, Russ Nixon embarks on his third season behind the plate for the Twins. An 11-year veteran of the big show, Russ provides the Twins with good pinch-hitting strength, as well as solid catching depth. The Twins' player representative, the one-time (1952) American Legion ball "Player of the Year" is active as a breeder of Arabian horses during the off-season.

OGIER, Maurice John, Jr. 'Mod' P No. 41

Born October 19, 1942, in New Orleans, Louisiana. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Metairie, Louisiana.

Off a strong season in the Carolina League, muscular righthander Mae Ogier must be considered a darkhorse bet to win a job on the Twins' pitching staff in 1968. A former football player at Southeastern Louisiana College, Mod has one of the finest fastballs in the professional ranks and, in 1967, improved his control remarkably in comparison with the records he turned in during his first two seasons in Organized Baseball. He was signed for the Twins by scout Ed Stevens.

OLIVA, Pedro, Jr. 'Tony' RF No. 6

Born July 20, 1941, in Pinar del Rio, Cuba. Height: 5 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

After experiencing his first sub-.300 season in seven years of professional baseball, Tony Oliva is confident that 1968 will find him back in the thick of the fight for the American League batting championship. The only player ever to top a major league bat crown in each of his first two seasons in the big show, Tony had surgery performed on his right knee in Rochester, Minn., last October, for removal of several loose bone fragments. This, coupled with the responsibility he's assumed as a recently-married man, should give Tony all the impetus he needs to recapture his place at the top of the league's batting heap. Oliva enjoyed one especially fantastic streak in the 1967 season, when he collected 9 straight hits during a five-game series in Baltimore, September 7-10, in which he went 15-for-21, overall. For the second time in his four big league seasons, he led the circuit in doubles, and for the fourth straight time, he was named to represent the American League in the Annual All-Star Game.

OLLOM, Jimmy Donald 'Herbie' P No. 18

Born July 8, 1945, in Snohomish, Washington. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in Everett, Washington.

Strong and talented, Jim Ollom showed great promise for the future in his first full major league season, last year. Although used sparingly, primarily in relief roles, the tall southpaw from the Pacific Northwest exhibited consistently good stuff, indicating that his 20-victory season in the Pacific Coast League in 1966 was a true harbinger of the kind of future that awaits him in the major leagues. Following last season, Jim performed for the Mayaguez club of the Puerto Rican Winter League.

PERRANOSKI, Ronald Peter 'Ron' P No. 16

Born April 1, 1937, in Paterson, New Jersey. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in Northridge, California.

The major leagues' no. 1 southpaw relief specialist for several years, Ron Perranoski became a Twin, along with pitcher Bob Miller and catcher John Roseboro, in exchange for shortstop Zello Versalles and bunter Jim Grant, last November 28, when the Twins and the Los Angeles Dodgers completed a deal that should prove to be highly beneficial to both clubs. In coming to the Twins, Perranoski returns to the area where he sparkled as a late-season addition to the 1960 St. Paul Saints of the old American Association. The National League's leader in games-pitched in both 1962 and 1963, and co-leader last year, Ron stood the baseball world on its ears in the 1963 season by pacing major league hurlers in win-percentage, while compiling a truly phenomenal earned-run average. Co-holder of the National League record for most consecutive strikeouts by a relief pitcher (6, on September 12, 1966), Ron was a standout southpaw for Michigan State University before inking a Chicago Cub bonus contract in 1958. He was traded to the Dodgers for infielder Don Zimmer on April 8, 1960, along with outfielder Lee Handley and ex-Twin John Goryl.

PERRY, James Evan, Jr. 'Jim' P No. 31

Born October 30, 1936, in Williamston, North Carolina. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats both, throws right. Married. Lives in Edina, Minnesota.

The Twins' fifth starter over the past several seasons, Jim Perry personifies the type of dependability needed by a contending major league ballclub. Year after year, when illness or injury have threatened to waylay the team's pitching staff, Perry's stepped into the breach and kept the club on a winning keel. It was late July when Jim moved into the rotation in 1967, and he reeled off three quick wins in succession, including back-to-back shutouts against Washington and California. Just two victories shy of 100 for his 9-year major league career, Jim's fondest hope in baseball is to compete in World Series action against his younger brother Gaylord, star pitcher for the San Francisco Giants. A former Campbell College student, Jim is now a confirmed Minnesotan, employed in the off-season by Johnson & Rauch, Inc., Minneapolis manufacturers' representatives.

Born May 15, 1939, in Chicago, Illinois. Height: 5 ft., 7 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Burnsville, Minnesota.

Talented at all infield positions, Frank Quilici is a strong candidate for the open shortstop spot in the Twins' lineup as 1968 gets underway. The strappy Chicagoan, a one-time All-America baseballer at Western Michigan University, sparked the Twins from his second base position during their 1965 pennant season, and last year provided strong depth at third base and shortstop, as well. A year-round Twin Cities-area resident, Frank is employed during the off-season as a goodwill representative of Oak Grove Dairies, Norwood, Minnesota.

REESE, Richard Benjamin 'Peewee' 1B-OF No. 20

Born September 29, 1942, in Lelpale, Ohio. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Single. Lives in St. Louis Park, Minnesota.

An extremely valuable addition to the Twins' squad in 1967, Rich Reese looms large in the club's plans for 1968. Although a fine defensive player at either first base or the outfield, Reese's main contribution to last year's team was represented in his splendid pinch-hitting efforts, particularly down the stretch in August and September. A .317-hitter as a pinch-hitter overall, Rich collected 8 hits in his last 13 pinch-swings, and garnered 7 of his 12 pinch-RBI's during that period. So impressive in a substitute role was he, in fact, that he's certain to see much more sustained action in the coming season. In anticipation of this possibility, Reese had torn ligaments required in his ailing right knee in surgery at Hoeffner's Mayo Clinic, last October 19. A two-sport star back in his high school days, Rich averaged 28 points a game as a basketball forward during his senior year at DeShler, Ohio, High School. During the past off-season, he displayed even more versatility by spreading the gospel of the Twins in professional oratorical style as a member of the club's area-wide public relations tours.

RENICK, Warren Richard 'Rick' SS No. 14

Born March 16, 1944, in London, Ohio. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in London.

After a standout season in the Carolina League last year, Rick Renick finds himself in the thick of the fight for the Twins' no. 1 shortstop job in 1968. An excellent hitter with great long-ball potential, Rick also sparkled in the field for manager Vern Morgan's Wilson club last season, giving rise to hopes that he might emulate Twin Rod Carew in making the jump from the Carolina to the majors in one year. A determined, well-built athlete, Rick was signed for the Twins by scout Del Wilber after his sophomore year at Ohio State University.

ROLAND, James Ivan, Jr. 'Jim' P No. 19

Having come to the fore as a steady southpaw bullpen specialist in 1967, Jim Roland now appears set to capitalize on the great hopes that have been held out for him ever since his signing of a bonus contract with the Twins in 1961. Harassed by a series of physical ailments throughout his professional career, Jim enjoyed an injury-free season last year and responded with a fine job for the club in relief. In post-season play, the team lefty turned in a sparkling 4-1 record and a 1.29 ERA for the Twins' Bradenton entry in the Florida Instructional League, before reporting to the Aragua club of the Venezuelan Winter League for the balance of their season. With Aragua, he was 5-0, with a 2.24 ERA.

ROLLINS, Richard John 'Redhead' 3B No. 9

Born April 16, 1938, in Mt. Pleasant, Pennsylvania. Height: 5 ft., 10 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws right-handed. Married. Lives in Burnsville, Minnesota.

One of five Twins who spent a goodly share of the off-season immobilized due to surgery, Rich Rollins is confident of a return to his 1968 form this year after having had torn cartilage removed from his right knee in a November 30 operation at Minnesota's famed Mayo Clinic. An outstanding 'team' man who keeps himself in top physical condition, the Redhead's biggest days in 1967 were July 28, when he collected 4-for-5 against Boston; August 6, when his 8th-inning home-run off submariner Dave Baldwin brought the Twins a come-from-behind, 2-2, win over Washington; and August 18, when he drove in all the runs scored by the Twins as they beat Chicago, 3-2, to take over first-place in league standings for the first time all year. And, his defensive play at third base throughout the season was such that he established a new fielding record for Twins' third basemen, exceeding the .958-standard he himself set back in 1966. Looking to the future, the industrious Rollins has become affiliated with Josten's, Inc., of Owatonna, Minn., in a sales and public relations capacity during the winter months.

ROSEBORO, John 'Rosy' C No. 10

Born May 13, 1933, in Ashland, Ohio. Height: 5 ft., 11 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in Los Angeles, California.

The backbone of four Los Angeles Dodgers' pennant-winning clubs, John Roseboro brings optimism to the camp of the Twins as they set their sights on the 1968 American League flag. Obtained by the Twins in the majors' biggest trade of the off-season, Roseboro's consistently outstanding all-round play over the years has gained him stature as one of the top receivers in the game. A 10-year major league regular, his experience and know-how could well be reflected in improved performances on the part of several young pitchers on the Twins' staff. A former student at Central State College, in Wilberforce, Ohio, John is a two-time winner of the Rawlings-Sporting News' Gold Glove Award for defensive excellence. Besides catching, he's also played first base, third base and the outfield during his major league career. In the off-season, John is active as an executive of Cenco Record Co., and as a director of the Public National Bank, in Los Angeles.

SANDS, Franklyn

Born December 2, 1948, in Nassau, Bahama Islands. Height: 5 ft., 11 in. Weight: 160 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Nassau.

Drafted by the Twins' Denver, Pacific Coast League farm club on November 28, 1966, off the roster of the Houston Astros' Amarillo, Texas League affiliate, catcher Franklyn Sands impressed manager Cal Ermer and Twins' farm department officials with his play for the Bears last season. Rated a sure-fire major leaguer of the future, the slender receiver followed up with a .282 batting average for Bradenton in the Florida Instructional League last fall.

Born July 11, 1942, in Oak Park, Illinois. Height: 5 ft., 2 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Bismarck, North Dakota.

Expected to miss a good share of spring training due to military service, catcher John Seycik nonetheless stands a good chance of returning to the major leagues in 1968, on the basis of his fine performance during 1967. The husky former University of Missouri football player's consistently good play in the Carolina League earned him a late-season promotion to the Denver club, where he continued to prove his major league qualifications.

STEPHEN, Louis Robert Jr. 'Buzz' P No. 42

Born July 13, 1944, in Porterville, California. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Porterville.

The Twins' first choice in the special phase free-agent draft selections of June 7, 1966, Buzz Stephen pitched on loan last season with the Los Angeles Dodgers' Santa Barbara, California League farm club as a weekend performer. Due to the fact that he spent the summer in the U. S. Marines, stationed at Camp Pendleton. The Fresno State College product was originally selected by Houston in the 1965 draft. A tall righthander, he broke into the professional ranks with a bang in 1966, posting the Northern League in victories, complete games (12) and shutouts (4), after affixing his signature to a contract offered him by Twins' western scouting supervisor Dick Wiencek.

TOVAR, Cesar Leonard

IF-OF No. 12

Born July 3, 1940, in Caracas, Venezuela. Height: 5 ft., 9 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Caracas.

Voted by his teammates as the Twins' most valuable player, Cesar Tovar's outstanding performance at six different positions was the single most contributing factor to the success of the team in 1967. So noteworthy were his efforts that they resulted in his receiving a most highly-deserved first-place vote in the American League's year-end Most Valuable Player poll. The diminutive Venezuelan established a new league record for most games played in a season, with only Maury Wills' 165-game season for the 1962 Los Angeles Dodgers standing between Tovar and the major league record. Cesar also led the circuit in times at bat, and paced the Twins with 19 stolen bases, a personal major league high for him. Although he had a 4-for-4 day against Washington on September 12, undoubtedly his biggest game came at California on May 21, when he belted a pair of home runs and two doubles in six trips to pace the Twins to a 12-3 win over the Angels . . . the first time any Twin has ever gotten four extra-base hits in a single contest. In addition, his 12 total bases that day tied the club record in that category, set previously by Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew when they hit three home runs in a game . . . on May 17, 1963, and September 21, 1963, respectively. During the off-season, Tovar performs for his hometown Caracas club in the Venezuelan Winter League, batting .295 last winter.

UHLAENDER, Ted OttoOF No. 11

Ted Uhlander's first two major league seasons followed a similar pattern. After starting slowly at the bat, the fleet Texan has come pounding down the stretch in both 1966 and '67. Last year, he was batting just .197 as late as July 27, but belted .291 from that point on, to prove a most significant factor in the Twins' late-season surge. He also excelled defensively, establishing a new Griffith organization fielding record for outfielders, beating the standard set by Sam West back in 1928 by .007-percentage points. A former All-Southwest Conference star at Baylor University, from which he was graduated with a B.B.A. in statistics in 1961, Ted's value is enhanced by the fact that he hits both left and right-hand pitching equally well. Twice a batting champion during his minor league days, Uhlander received the Calvin Griffith Award as "most improved Twin" at the annual mid-winter Writers' Banquet at the St. Paul Hilton Hotel last January.

WEISENBERG, Robert Paul "Bob" — P No. 37

Born November 19, 1948, in Omaha, Nebraska. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Omaha.

The Twins' seventh choice in the regular phase of the June 5, 1966, free-agent draft, pitcher Bob Weisenberg demonstrated great major league potential in his rookie season in the Northern League last summer. Although he'll miss spring training in order to continue his physical education studies at Midland College, in Fremont, Nebraska, until classes let out in June, the husky righthander is expected to make rapid advancement up the professional ladder. A standout athlete at Omaha's North High School, Bob was linked for the Twins by scout Marv Olson.

WORTHINGTON, Allen Fulton "Al" P No. 15

Born February 5, 1929, in Birmingham, Alabama. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Birmingham.

The Twins' 'old reliable' bullpenner for the past four seasons, Al Worthington has enjoyed a long and distinguished career in professional baseball. Since reporting to the Twins in late June of 1964, the even-tempered Alabamian has responded to the call on 227 occasions. On 39 of those occasions, he's been credited with a victory, and 62 times he's turned in a 'save.' So, in better than one-third of his appearances, he's been directly responsible for putting the Twins in the victory-column. He's been charged with just 25 defeats during that period, and a check of the record shows that he's made a valuable contribution to Twins' efforts in most of his other 121 outings. Now the 'elder statesman' of the club, the former University of Alabama football and baseball star was employed in the banking business in Birmingham during the past off-season. One of the game's real 'solid citizens,' Al is a devoted church and family man.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

If namesakes mean anything, the Minnesota Twins could well be headed for the 'top' in this year's American League pennant race.

Both manager Cal Ermer, starting his first full season as a big league skipper, and his new first base coach George Case were named after occupants of the highest chair in the land . . . the Presidency of the United States.

Ermer was christened Calvin Coolidge, having been born during that Chief Executive's term in office. Case, however, goes back quite a little farther than that, having been named in honor of our first President, George Washington.

And then, of course, to bring things up-to-date with our modern era, a current candidate and former Vice-President is represented on the club in the person of catcher R. Nixon!

ZIMMERMAN, Gerald Robert "Zim" C No. 22

Born September 21, 1934, in Omaha, Nebraska. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Milwaukee, Oregon.

A seven-year veteran of the majors, Jerry Zimmerman saw the most extended action of his career during 1967, and responded by providing the Twins with championship-style backstopping as the club battled for the flag right down to the last day of the season. Now engaged in the insurance business during the off-season, Zim actually served as a player-coach for the team last year, but his heavy playing load caused his coaching chores to be kept to a minimum. One of three Oregonians on the Twins, the likable Zimmerman joined the club from Cincinnati in a January, 1962, trade for outfielder Dan Dobbek.

CRIDER, Jerry Stephen

P No. 50

Born September 2, 1941, in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Orlando, Florida.

The ace of the staff for the Denver Bears last season, Jerry Crider has shown steady improvement in each of his six seasons as a professional pitcher. An outstanding high school athletic star in Sioux Falls, Jerry attended South Dakota State University for two years on a football scholarship before taking a Twins' contract. For the past several years, Jerry has sharpened his tools by playing winter ball, campaigning during the recent season as a member of the Lara Cardinals of the Venezuelan Winter League.

WEBB, Robert Henry "Bob" P No. 51

Born January 3, 1943, in Lamberton, Minnesota. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Bloomington, Minnesota.

Being groomed for major league relief duties, Bob Webb did a fine rescue job in the Carolina League last year, and then followed that up with a sparkling 1.78 ERA, and 2-4 won-lost ledger in 24 games in the Florida Instructional League. A 16-letterman at Lamberton, Minn., High School, Bob went on from there to the University of Iowa, where he played baseball and basketball before being graduated with a B.S. degree in recreation. He was selected by the Twins in the original free-agent draft session of June 8-9, 1965. He immediately indicated promise of great things to come by leading the Northern League in both victories and win-percentage that season.

GRZENDA, Joseph Charles "Joe" P No. 33

Born June 8, 1937, in Moonie, Pennsylvania. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in Homewood, Alabama.

A veteran of previous major league service with the Detroit Tigers, Kansas City Athletics and New York Mets, southpaw Joe Grzenda was obtained by the Twins' Denver, Pacific Coast League farm club in a November 29, 1967, trade with the Mets' Jacksonville, International League affiliate for veteran lefty Mel Nelson. Grzenda had been purchased by the Mets in August after having compiled an impressive record with the A's Birmingham farm, where he was the bullpen workhorse of the Southern League. After pitching effectively for the Mets through the balance of the National League season, he was assigned to the Jacksonville roster at the conclusion of the campaign. The slender pitcher was invited to the Twins' Orlando camp in hopes that he might bolster the club's lefthand relief corps.

RADOVICH, Robert Raymond 'Bob' P No. 52

Born May 3, 1939, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws right-handed. Single. Lives in Denver, Colorado.

Signed as a free-agent by the Twins' Denver, Pacific Coast League farm club last June 9, Bob Radovich proved to be a most effective addition to his hometown club by turning in a sparkling relief record for the Bears. So impressive was he, in fact, that he was invited to join the parent Twins in their Orlando camp this spring. Originally a member of the Los Angeles Dodgers' organization, Bob also saw service in the California Angels' and St. Louis Cardinals' systems before hooking up with Denver. He's a five-year veteran of Pacific Coast League action.

Born January 12, 1944, in Little Falls, Minnesota. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Sidelined by an attack of hepatitis just as spring training was starting last year, Curt Sauer didn't regain full strength until mid-season. As a result, he was used somewhat sparingly at Denver until the latter half of the Pacific Coast League season. He demonstrated such good stuff through the balance of the campaign, however, that he was once again invited to train with the parent Twins at their Tinker Field spring base in Orlando. A former central Minnesota amateur standout, Curt was signed for the Twins by present third base coach Billy Martin.

TWINS ESTABLISHED NEW ATTENDANCE HIGHS IN '67

The year 1967 saw the Minnesota Twins set new club records, attendance-wise, both at home and on the road.

Their home draw of 1,483,547, over 76 playing dates, exceeded the club's previous home crowd standard by 20,279, eclipsing the 1,463,268 draw of the pennant-winning 1965 season.

On the road, in 71 openings, the Twins attracted 1,292,600 fans, an increase of 124,425 over their old road attendance record of 1,168,175, also set back in 1965.

Eddie Stanky's Chicago White Sox, who battled the Twins tooth-and-nail for first-place over the last three months of the season before the Boston Red Sox sneaked home with the bunting on the last day of the campaign, proved to be the top attraction at the Met throughout the year, drawing 242,339 persons in 9 dates, an average of 26,927 fans per opening. The Detroit Tigers, also involved in the American League's great 4-way dog-fight in '67, were the next most popular club to appear in Minnesota. The Tigers drew 209,448 persons in 9 outings . . . 23,272 per game.

Strangely, the champion Red Sox brought just 163,643 fans out to the Met during the season, ranking only fifth on the Twins' attendance totem pole. The New York Yankees, perennial Metropolitan Stadium attendance champs, although lacking the lustre of former years, still maintain their appeal, finishing third among A.L. clubs here in 1967.

Away from home, the Twins proved most attractive in California, where 236,807 fans turned out to see them meet the Angels on 9 occasions in Anaheim.
